

On Saturday, April 29th, Poetry Club, A.K.A. Verses Over Violence, sent six poets to represent Bloomfield High School at Louder Than a Bomb, New Jersey, a statewide spoken word competition held at Montclair State University. BHS and three other teams from South Jersey battled head-to-head, performing original pieces about topics ranging from the personal to the sociopolitical. Even though BHS did not win, our students exhibited a level of solidarity and sportsmanship beyond their years, and they put in their absolute best work. It was, without a doubt, a great day to be a Bloomfield Bengal.